

IER INSTITUTE FOR ENERGY RESEARCH

Robert L. Bradley Jr. is the CEO and founder of the Institute for Energy Research. As one of the nation's leading experts on the history and regulation of energy markets, he has testified before the U.S. Congress and the California Energy Commission, as well as lectured at numerous colleges, universities, and think tanks around the country. Bradley's views are frequently cited in the media, and his reviews and editorials have been published in the New York Times, Wall Street Journal, and other national publications.

Bradley is a visiting fellow at the Institute of Economic Affairs in London, and an adjunct scholar at both the Cato Institute and the Competitive Enterprise Institute, and a senior fellow at the Texas Public Policy Foundation.

Bradley is the author of eight books, most recently Enron Ascending: The Forgotten Years, 1984–1996, the first classical-liberal treatise of a business firm in market and political action. The third volume of a tetralogy on political capitalism, Enron Ascending follows Edison to Enron: Energy Markets and Political Strategies, and Capitalism at Work: Business, Government, and Energy, which applies the capitalist worldview to corporate and energy controversies. His primer primer (coauthored with Richard Fulmer), Energy: The Master Resource, is the inspiration for IER's movement-wide energy blog, www.masterresource.org.

Bradley received a B.A. in economics (with honors) from Rollins College, where he also won the S. Truman Olin Award in economics. He received an M.A. in economics from the University of Houston: and a Ph.D. in political economy (with distinction) from International College. His dissertation was published in two volumes as Oil, Gas, and Government: The U.S. Experience. In 2002 he received the Julian L. Simon Memorial Award for his work on energy and sustainable development.

Areas of expertise: History of Energy Policy, History of Energy Thought, Free Market Theory, Public Choice Theory, Social Corporate Responsibility

For media inquiries, contact Erin Amsberry at eamsberry@ierdc.org